wise man can discern what is right and wrong, and whatever he sees in another is what he must confront himself, for he is what they are. a vibrational output charges any situation giving power to the forces you feed. a ant does not put a fight against a shoe with no regard to its presence, but a bear standing on its 2 rear-legs looking down at you will manifest your own fears or pleasures regarding polarity with harmony or destruction, either or the next phase will continue whatever path self makes, for the bear; like all things, will observe that what it gazes upon, for the bear could be intimidated or curious. Now, for the gazillion-bazillion different choices one may think to do, what is pre-programmed in a timely reaction will manifest due to pre-planning and repetition due to karmic and or taught reasonings.

The right thing to do? my choice?... to sit crosslegged bow my head accept my destiny while closing my eyes humming the AUM diving my conscious thought to the paramount success that we are all One, and God made Manifest for eternal Youth.
